The Flagstone Heritage

Reconstituted stonework has been employed by architects and landscape designers for well over two hundred years. Its early history is distinguished with fine examples of craftsmanship still seen in the great buildings of history.

Flagstone was established in the late eighties with the aim of creating products to assist today's architects, landscape designers and homeowners to add beauty, style and versatility to their own projects.

Flagstone are a cast stone product, manufactured using a combination of blended sands, granulated stone, colour pigments and bonding agents. The nature of this material enables products to be moulded into virtually any shape providing the design freedom to produce a modern contemporary landmark or to reproduce a classic look of centuries past. Flagstone products are manufactured to give the appearance and maturing character of natural stone. Alternatively surface sealers and stains can be used on the product to enhance the colour-fastness and appearance and protect the product.

Over the years Flagstone has created and matched over 100 colour variations. Four of the most appealing and popular of these colours have been retained as our standard range.

Pavers

Flagstone manufactures a large selection of sizes. This is done for flexibility in design and convenience of laying.

A number of sizes can be combined to create random patterns, such as the 'Autumn Blend' comprising four popular sandstone type colours in up to 5 sizes. This mix creates a stunning timeless look, that is especially effective in large areas when laid in the multiples of 300mm pavers.

Flagstone can also manufacture custom sized pavers.

15 sizes with some available in different thicknesses.
